RESURRECTION

For Christians throughout the world, the dawn of Easter morning marks the celebration of the triumph of life over death, as we affirm our faith in the resurrection of Jesus.

The annual pilgrimage of Lent has been a renewal of religious memory, as the liturgy led us through the history of salvation, a story of broken covenants and a God of justice and mercy. It is not a story of easy escapes but of painful exile, of testing in the desert and prophetic denunciations and, finally, of a new covenant sealed in the passion and death of Jesus.

In the Book of Deuteronomy, the people of Israel express their faith that God's word is uttered in an ever-present now: "Today you hear his voice." God's word is not only a revered memory; it is an enduring challenge. And for the Christian, the passion of Jesus is a contemporaneous experience, renewed in the sacramental remembrance of the liturgy but also present in the scars of the oppressed and the brutalized today. Whatever you have done to the least of my people, Jesus said, you have done to me. This sense of the continuing passion of Jesus in our world today roots our Easter faith in the actual cries of God's people.

The religious memories that engage us during Holy Week are fulfilled on Easter morning; but many of them are, after all, memories of suffering - the exile of Israel, the passion and death of Jesus - and these same memories of suffering and death are the source of a renewed hope. Real hope does not blink at the dark realities of life: pain, betrayal, oppression and death - it is grounded in the unshakable trust that God will be faithful to his people, and the power of his spirit can transform darkness into light, rescue love from loneliness and bring life out of death.

Finally, Christians believe that the resurrection of Jesus does not only mean that eternal life awaits us after death; we also believe that life can come out of death, that death and resurrection is a pattern that prevails throughout our pilgrimage. If the grain of wheat does not fall to the ground and die, it remains just a grain of wheat; but if it dies, it produces much fruit. The resurrection of Jesus confirms our trust that the promise of eternal life awaits us at the end of our pilgrimage, and the promise of new life is present in the daily dying of a life lived in love. The Lord has risen and has gone before us. We need not fear the future.

ALLELUIA! HE IS RISEN!
